9:30– 10:00 Clean-up

BAD WEATHER POLICY:

In the event of bad weather (snow or ice) we will not meet if GTCC (Greensboro Technical Community College) is not having evening classes

MINUTES OF NOVEMBER 7th MEETING:

PTWA Meeting Notes of Jan 2, 2007

- President Bob Muir opened our meeting
- Introductions of 9 visitors were made, with 51 attendees
- Please renew your annual membership.
- Bob showed us our recent purchased tool sets and chucks

On this evening, Bill introduced us to turning “Found on the beach Drift Wood”, into Beautiful pieces of art. His supply is hand selected and harvested from the Oregon Coast by Mike Smith of NCWOODS. Bill began by showing us some of his completed pieces. He even has one where he found a rock imbedded and decided to keep it as part of the finished bowl. He turned around it and slowed down the lathe for some sanding on the rock itself. It looked like a piece of jewelry.

Bill picked through his stash to select a piece that would fit our lathe. He begins with the piece between 2 centers. This allows for some adjustment to the form after you begin turning. His cutting tools appear small until you realize it is an optical illusion. The handles are massive! He has remounted his bowl gouges into 24 inch handles that are about 3 inch diameter. His thoughts on the subject are to reduce vibration since he is cutting air about 65% of the time on these pieces.

His first objective is to create a relief to mount the chuck in. Bill covers some of the reasons for using expansion as compared to compression on the tenon, but he quickly acknowledges that both ways work. Each person will make up their own mind the best way.

Now he reverses the piece, and with a final review, makes up his mind what he wants it to look like at the end of the evening. Since it is a small, thick piece, he decided on an open bowl with flowing legs dripping onto the table. He begins hollowing the bowl at about 300 rpm's. Remember the airspace. After many passes, you see the difference between a professional cut and what I achieve. The bowl would require very little sanding. But to complete the demo, he shows us how he uses a large boring bar to sand these unusual pieces. The bar has a free orbiting hard rubber sanding pad on the end. Using 5" stick on pads, he applies some pressure to the piece and the disc rotated itself.

Bill ended the evening by answering our questions on this unusual idea.

- Our raffle was postponed due to few prizes. Please donate to the February meeting.

Respectfully submitted, Lan Brady

NORTH CAROLINA WOODTURNING SYMPOSIUM UPDATE

NC Woodturning Symposium, Inc. update: The Board of Directors met January 8. The next meeting will be Monday, February 5. The North Carolina Woodturning Symposium is scheduled for October 5-7, 2007. This Symposium will be much, much larger and better than the previous NC Symposiums.

The Symposium will feature 5 nationally or internationally known turners. The "headliners" that have agreed to demonstrate are: Dick Sing (can't find or he doesn't have a website), Trent Bosch (<http://www.trentbosch.com/>) , Jacques Vesery (<http://www.rosenthalgroup.net/artweb-vesery/>) , Chris Ramsey (<http://www.knot-head.com/>) , and Nick Cook (<http://www.nickcookwoodturner.com/>) . At this time all are scheduled to present 7 demonstrations except Nick Cook who will present 6 and Chris Ramsey who will present 8 demonstrations. Contracts have been sent to all of these.

There will be a total of 63 demonstrations, 35 by "headliners" and 28 by "regional" or "local" turners. The latter and their likely demonstrations are: James Duxbury (kaleidoscopes), John Morris (segmented turning), Earl Kennedy (wavy edged bowls), Joe Ruminski (www.greeneriverwoodturning.com) , Elvie Jackson (basic bowls), Alan Hollar (carving), Frank Penta (texturing and coloring), Alan Leland (www.alanleland.com) , Ed Jacobsen (segmented turnings?), and Gary Gardner (www.turningleafwoodart.com) .

The demonstrations will be presented in 7 different rooms. There will be a total of 9 rotations with 2 on Friday afternoon beginning at 1:00 PM, 4 rotations on Saturday beginning at 8:00 AM, and 3 rotations on Sunday beginning at 8:00 AM and ending at 2:30 PM. There will be a 30-minute break between rotations to allow for visiting the Vendor's Area, visiting the Instant Gallery, and visiting with other woodturners in our region and 1 ½ hour lunch period on Saturday and Sunday.

So far the following vendors have indicated their interest in having space in the Vendor's Area: Woodcraft, The Sanding Glove, Klingspor's Woodworking Shop, Woodworkers Supply, Steve Wall Lumber Co., Sauers & Company (veneers), Penn State Industries, Australian Burls, Packard Woodworks, Inc., Custom Wood Cuts, Vega Enterprises, Inc., and Atlanta Wood Products. It is expected that there will be additional vendors by October 5.

There will be a Banquet (with a raffle of donated items) on Saturday evening, the price of which is included in the registration fee. At the moment the registration fee is tentatively set at $155, with the remote possibility of change. There will be a reception on Friday evening. It is expected to be underwritten by one or more vendors. Lunch (from Coliseum Catering) will be available for purchase on Saturday and Sunday. This means that attendees do not have to leave the Coliseum to search for food.

At this time it is expected, that to facilitate convenience, the Vendors, Instant Gallery, and lunch/refreshment area will all be in one large room. Registrants will be allowed to bring up to three pieces of their work for the Instant Gallery.

A unique feature will be the availability of a book of demonstrators' "handouts". There will be a strong attempt to have the demonstrators write up complete and useful "handouts" that follow the same format. These books will be offered for sale at the beginning and during the Symposium. This means that attendees don't have to spend a lot of their time taking notes during the demonstrations and that the handouts will be well written so as to serve turners in their workshop.

The Board will work with the Greensboro Convention and Visitors Bureau to arrange activities for spouses and families.

The Board realizes that the registration fee is larger than in the past, but registrants will enjoy a much better symposium than in the past. Compare all the above with the content of previous NC Symposiums. This fee is very much in line with other large symposiums.

There might be changes in any of the above between now and October 5. For up-to-date information contact the NC Symposium, Inc. website at <http://www.northcarolinawoodturning.com/index.html> . The website will be updated as features of the Symposium become firm.

If you have questions or concerns please contact Bob Muir (638-6012, rmuir2@triad.rr.com) or Vicki Tanner (449-0767, vickitanner@triad.rr.com).

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED:

Brian Johnson has designed and constructed some things that will enhance our demonstration programs. There will be better illumination for the demonstrator and for the video cameras and there will be more camera angles to provide better views of the demonstration. We are in the final stages of completing these facilities. They include storable wooden tables for use by the demonstrator (including a base for our grinder), a structure for holding lamps and video cameras, and a base pedestal for the video switcher, cameras and the wiring. The video base pedestal will greatly simplify the setup procedure and its associated wiring, that is, it will not be as complex as you might have observed in the past.

This is a request for people to volunteer to be on a setup and operations committee. If several, 3 to 5, are willing to serve, then any one person might be responsible for only 3 or 4 meetings. Committee members do not have to have video experience or be video experts. Brian and I will meet with committee members to help them understand how to set up and operate the video equipment and we will provide written instructions. We need to spread the experience and responsibility to more members.

If you are willing to serve on this committee, please contact Bob Muir (336.638.6012 or rmuir2@triad.rr.com).

PTWA MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL

If you have not paid your membership dues, you can send a check to Gene Briggs.

DONATION/PROMOTION:

Chip Giordano, woodturner and owner of Steebar.com, Turning Solutions, has donated eight pen kits (two each of): PK-1013-C, PK-1034, PK-1177, and PK-1180 (for descriptions of these models, see <http://www.penmakingsupplies.com/Pens/slimlineasiandirec t.shtml>). These kits will be placed in the Raffle at the February 6, club meeting. For more information, see the websites <http://www.steebar.com/> and www.penmakingsupplies.com. They also have other woodturning supplies.

AAW INSURANCE:

AAW Sponsored Insurance for your personal business activities (From the AAW website) Most professional turners know that their homeowner's insurance policy does not cover their private business activities, inventory, teaching, equipment and property. Most of them have either done without insurance at great risk, or at great expense and effort, have found an agent to cover them. On the other hand, most of the rest of us assume that our homeowner's policy insures us even if we do some sales of our work or occasional teaching. Laws that regulate insurance vary from state to state. In North Carolina, it used to be that activities that were occasional in nature and did not amount to a substantial amount of income were covered by one's homeowner's policy. A few years ago, it changed to say that any activity that was commercial in nature, no matter how few dollars were involved, was not covered. That means that if someone came to my home to buy a piece and was injured, or if my shop burned, or my tools were stolen, or I taught a private class, I would not be covered. Each member should check with your own insurance agent to see if all of your activities are covered by your homeowner's insurance policy
